The twelve forms that make a homeschool year run

THE FORMS THAT MAKE A YEAR RUN

You already have a curriculum. What you do not have is a place to write down what happened, which is the thing you will need in March, at the portfolio review, and at the end of the year when somebody asks how it went.

These are the twelve forms that do the most work for the least effort. Print what you need, punch holes, put it in one binder in this order. Nothing here requires you to change how you teach.

WHAT IS INSIDE

PAGE	FORM	USE IT FOR
2	Grade chart	One glance at where each subject stands
3	Attendance record	The legal record, twelve months on one page
4	Weekly lesson planner	A week on one sheet, subject by day
5	Curriculum map	What you meant to cover, and when
6	Reading log	Books, pages, minutes, and one line about it
7	Field trip log	Where you went and what it counted for
8	Portfolio record	Which work samples you kept, and why
9	Purchases log	What you spent, for records and for next year
10	Hours summary	Instructional hours, if your state asks
11	Group roster	Co-op, class, and contact sheet
12	Student ID and emergency	The card in the wallet and the wall

SAMPLE

The one rule. Write in it the same day, in pen, badly. A neat record filled in three months later is a fiction, and portfolio reviewers can smell it.

Activities for children need an adult present. Several activities involve scissors, small parts, water, heat, food, outdoors, tools or fire. Adults are responsible for choosing what is age appropriate, supervising it, and checking the surroundings and materials first. Nothing here replaces your own judgment about the children in your care. No educational, developmental, behavioral or health result is promised or implied by any page in this pack.
